At B Street Theatre, it is the passion of our patrons and donors that fuels our mission to cultivate new, exciting plays for the American stage. Becky and Bob Norris began as volunteers and quickly established themselves as passionate advocates for the power of storytelling. Their love of theatre was rooted in a deep belief that new plays breathe life into our cultural conversation, challenge our perspectives, and build lasting connections between artists and audiences through laughter, tears, or both.

To honor Becky’s memory, we have established the Becky & Bob Norris New Play Fund. This fund will allocate donations to support the development of new plays for all ages, a mission that Becky held close to her heart. We are deeply grateful for Becky’s years of support and hope her and Bob’s advocacy inspires others to champion bold, new work for the stage.
